Definitions:

Shared-use trails- Shared-use trails accommodate two types of recreationalists, most commonly hikers and trail cyclists. The sharing of trails can include the designation of separate days for hikers exclusively, days for cyclists and hikers to share a trail, as well as one-way travel for cyclists on shared days.

Shared-The term "shared" is used instead of the functional terms like "dual-use" or "multi-use" as an aspiration for common understanding of and respect among users, safety, and appropriate behavior.
